

Irrepressible entrepreneurialship, coupled with a passion towards giving back... Wow- I can think of no other words more appropriate to articulate the character of leadership, which so accurately describes Necole Michelle Parker. It is my deep honor and privilege to recognize someone I truly admire.

I have watched the evolution of Necole Parker and the ELOCEN Group for almost twenty years. It is rare in the business world to encounter a woman that exudes such a strong, quietly assured and unwavering notion of who she is- and where and how she fits into the life she has created for herself and her company.

We are all beneficiaries of Necole's decision to focus her business efforts in the real estate, construction and relocation business in the D.C. Area. She has networked, partnered and sought to strengthen the industry she calls home.

Necole is a fiercely spiritual and moral woman who believes deeply and naturally in helping others and who makes no excuses for other than excellence. She is passionate about her family, her patriotism, her friends and God.

Necole is a gift to our business community and to our leadership bank.

Mignon R. Anthony

Senior Program Officer for the National Science Foundation (Future NSF)

Arlington, Virginia